* A peek at the Week *

Reading: We focused on making text connections while we are reading (text to self, text to text, and text to world).

Writing: We finished publishing our writing. Students also had an opportunity to write creative new endings to popular disney fairytales.

Grammar: We learned about nouns (proper/common, abstract/concrete) and verbs (action/linking, verb tenses: past, present, future).

Math: We began Unit 2: Introduction to Multiplication. We explored how we can use addition strategies to demonstrate multiplication. We reviewed multiplication models that were introduced in Number Corner this month (array, picture, loops & groups, ratio table).

Social Studies: We finished our unit on maps by learning about political and physical maps.

* A Note from Your Teacher: *

Thank you for your support of Hearts for Harvey! $1,275 in Wal-mart gift cards were sent to Lovett Elementary School in Houston, Texas!

Your child's portfolio will be coming home next week. Throughout the week next week, we will spend time adding some of our work from this past month to our portfolios. Students will also have an opportunity for self-assessment, reflection, and goal setting. I am hoping to have portfolios sent home by next Thursday. Please take time Thursday night to look over your child's portfolio and return it to school by Friday. Have a wonderful weekend!
